

Two Receive Awards for Arsenal Ideas

Improved methods of paint application and a suggestion for a glass grinding machine earned two employes at the Joliet Arsenal $60 recently.

Woodrow E. Engel, of Manhattan, employed as a painter by the arsenal since January, 1947, received $10 for his suggestion for a method of paint application, which resulted in considerable savings and man hours.

THE OTHER award of $50 was presented to Estel Kegley, employed as an automobile body repairman at the arsenal since April 1946.

Kegley's suggestion in originating a glass grinding machine for grinding and installing door or windshield glass will save the cost of having the work done outside the arsenal.
